Questions

- How often do we lose strength and courage for our task for today, by worrying about something that is going to happen in the next few days?
- God promises us our daily provisions and teaches us to pray in that fashion. Why is this sometimes difficult for us?
- What is the difference between meditating on God's word each day and just using it few times a week?
- How does our focusing only on our tasks for today effect our relationship with God?
- Does living one day at a time mean that we shouldn't think or plan about tomorrow or the future?
- How can we ensure that we are learning to obey God on a daily basis and not postponing our obedience to him?
